

How to Raise Your Prices Consistently In Any Market at Any Time!

By Mitchrusso@gmail.com

GROWTH SOLUTIONS

Why your prices are low:

You don't have a lot of experience

You are working in a market known for low-income clients

You know how to help people, but I haven't proven it yet.

You've done some great work, but no one knows about me.

Who spends the most for services like you provide?

Those who have been endorsed by trusted friends or colleagues

People who have confidence that you will solve their problem

People who have seen proof of your abilities to over-deliver on what you promise.

Clients who saw your endorsements from those who praise your work as having changed their lives or businesses.

But... They are not buying from you... Why?

What to do about it.

Promote to those who are already earning and scaling their companies. But how?

Track Client Statistics

Take your existing clients, carefully track their weekly statistics across 4-6 areas that you've helped them to improve over several months.

Graph the Results

Graph those statistics and prove to your existing clients how much you are worth, showing the before and after results, numerically.

Create Accountability

Create a series of accountability questions, change them weekly, and require your clients to answer those questions every week.

Benefits of This Approach

- By doing the above, clients build confidence in your ability to be a supportive and confident coach.
- By doing the above, clients can visibly see exactly the progress your clients have made while working with you.
- At the end of your coaching contract, ask for a video testimonial, and follow a simple process to record one.

Provide great service, prove others have benefited and share the story of your clients' success!

The Testimonial Formula that Generates Higher Fees - Copy this now!

After the engagement is over, ask your client to do this on video (a simple 6-step formula):

1. Introduce Yourself Share who you are, what your company does, and what makes it successful.
2. Set the Stage Describe the challenge you were facing before we worked together—what it looked like, how it felt, and how it impacted your business and life.
3. The Turning Point Explain how we began working together and what it felt like to see new systems take shape. Share how I helped and what insights you gained.
4. The Result Highlight the tangible outcomes—sales, growth, efficiency, etc.
5. The Emotional Impact Describe how it felt to have the problem solved.
6. Your Endorsement Wrap up with your recommendation. Feel free to mention ROI, how I compare to others you've worked with, and whether you'd hire me again.

You can position this up front even before you start the engagement by asking your new client:

"If I deliver more value than you expected, would you be willing to shoot a quick 2-minute testimonial to share your experience?"
